TREASURE TROVE WAS ONLY A STOREROOM

The "discovery" of a whole roomful of old papers in the basement of the Capitol by the superintendent of public works and the statement from his office that the "find" would be turned over to Archivist Lydecker, who could reveal in the dusty tomes to his heart's content, as announced in The Advertiser, yesterday, turns out to be a good joke. The archivist and the superintendent of public works are now debating to determine which one is the joker and which one the joke.

Some of the senators want to recall George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee in 1904. He told the senate committee recently that neither the Standard Oil Company nor any one associated with it contributed to the Republican fund last year. Archibald yesterday declared that Standard Oil contributions were fully known both to Cortelyou and Colonel Roosevelt. "The possibilities of calling Roosevelt are still hazy."

WANT SAM JOHNSON AS A SUPERVISOR

The movement to bring Col. Sam Johnson forward as the Republican candidate for the mayoralty, which had the backing of the general public as well as of the business men a few weeks ago, has been revived, but so far the one whom the office is seeking has declined to commit himself. Those who have approached Mr. Johnson in the matter, insist that if he does not care to make the effort he shall at least go after a supervisorship. This, it was reported last night, the former national guard commander is considering, with every indication that he will definitely throw his Panama into the ring this week.

When Johnson was in politics here a few years ago, there was none with a larger personal following and it is not to be supposed that he is less popular today with the rank and file of the voters than then.

(By Federal Telegraph Wireless.)

SEOUL, Korea, August 24.—(Special to The Advertiser)—After a wait of several weeks the trial of one hundred and twenty-three Koreans accused of being implicated in an alleged conspiracy against the life of L. T. Terauchi, the governor-general of Korea, was resumed yesterday. Evidence was introduced by the defense to show that sixteen of the defendants wrote not present at the railway station of hyon-chi-yun when General Terauchi was on his tour of inspection of that district in November, 1911, as the procurators alleged. The chief procurator, N. A. Kiguchi, in his speech, pointed out that during the public trial some of the prisoners, who had confessed, were not separated from the main body and were within hearing of others who were ready to enter denial of the charges. As a result men who previously had admitted their guilt assumed defiant attitudes, when interrogated, and denied the charge.
